Learning and Teaching

Cultural Harmony

Cultural harmony among the children of Chinese origin and those from other ethnic minorities in Hong Kong is highly promoted in IKTMC. Local and newly arrived students are welcome to apply for admission in our college. Our college provides ample opportunities for Chinese and non-Chinese students to interact with one another. Through students' daily interaction, they can improve both English and Chinese language abilities and master both languages with ease.

Harmony Training Camp for Ethnic Minorities

School-based Curriculum

Our college strive to stretch the potential of every student with due emphasis on developing their generic skills. Our teaching approach is geared to the diverse needs and interests of the students for more effective learning and teaching.

For junior forms, we focus on building a firm foundation in Chinese, English, Mathematics, and Liberal Studies. Our native English speaking teachers provide a rich environment for English language acquisition. We encourage students from different cultural backgrounds to communicate in English. Moreover, after-school homework tutorials with English, Mathematics, and Chinese enhancement classes are arranged for junior students to help them build up a good foundation in these fields of study.

For senior forms, we aim at providing a broad-based DSE curriculum to develop students' potential. In addition, students can also participate in Applied Learning Programs organized by other institutions or organizations.

S5 and S6 Extra Classes

In order to well prepare students to achieve better results in the HKDSE Examination, S5 and S6 students are required to attend summer classes for 2 weeks in August. In addition, during the normal school days, S6 students are required to attend an extra class (the 10th lesson) after school dismisses.

Reading Scheme

Reading is the bedrock for students to develop their writing skills and abilities. In addition, a good reading habit can motivate students to be self-directed learners. Therefore, "Morning Reading Program" is held on every Monday and Wednesday morning. Further, students can also read E-books on our school website. Last but not least, the "Reading Star Contest" is organized by the library to encourage students' good reading habits.

CHINESE LANGUAGE

GCSE / GCE(AS) Examination

A school-based Chinese Curriculum is designed for Non-Chinese speaking students in order to prepare them for the GCSE, GCE Chinese Exam or HKDSE Chinese Exam.

Last year, 87 students took the General Certificate of Secondary Education (GCSE) Chinese Exams. More than 60% of the students passed, among these, 20% of the students achieved level A* or A. More specifically, in Paper 1 the Listening section, 50% of the students attained level A* or A; while in Paper 3 the Reading section, 30% of them attained level A* or A.

In addition, 32 students attended the General Certificate of Education (GCE) Exams in AS Level Chinese last year. Among these, more than 50% attained level B or above in the whole paper, and over 90% attained level B or above in the speaking paper.

Professional Support

The Chinese Panel participates in a support programme launched by the Education Bureau (EDB) Language Learning Support Section, through which we have regular meetings with the supporting teacher from EDB. This is the second year for us to work with the EDB to try out some new teaching plans and lessons.

This year, some NCS from S1 to S3 joined "An Online Platform for Learning Chinese as a Second Language" programme which was run by The Caritas Institute of Higher Education. NCS can complete reading comprehension exercises on the Internet. This can provide more opportunities for them to acquire and improve Chinese language.

This year a total of 19 students participated in the 68th Speech Festival and achieved an excellent result. Over 30% of them received the merit award and 27% of them received the proficiency award. This is our first year to nominate students to participate in pairs for Duologue Category. Both teams received more than 80 marks. For non-Chinese speaking students, the results are amazing.

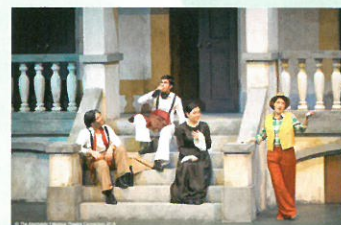

ENGLISH LANGUAGE

Learning English through Drama

Drama provides an excellent platform for students to develop their English skills. When students are submerged in a fun activity, they are more open to acquire new concepts and are able to learn with efficiency.

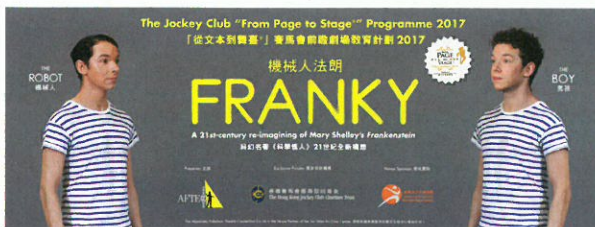

1. Theatre Appreciation - Twelfth Night

The theatre appreciation was scheduled on 23 October 2016. Around twenty students were presented a modified version of Shakespeare's fun and heartfelt comic drama regarding the follies of love.

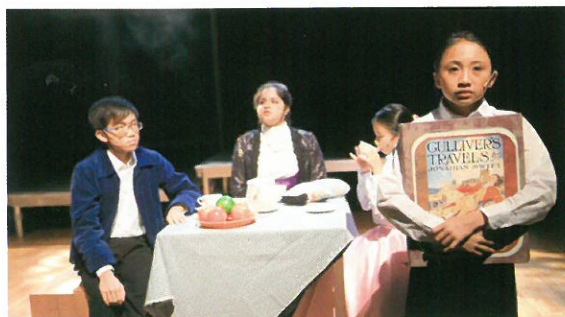

2. The Jockey Club "From Page to Stage" Programme 2017 – Franky

Through lively learning experience and appreciation of arts, our English Literature students were consumed by a love for a drama performance.

3. Moving On Stage

It is such a valuable chance for Areej Kianat (6A) to become a cast member in this professional theatre production – Jane Eyre. She plays two roles in this show.

S.6 Areej Kianat (in the middle) had a chance to be one of the cast members in the show

Areej Kianat said, "I felt really happy, as I finally got to learn how to act, how to pronounce my lines in a proper and better way. I am still learning how to react in different scenes."

The 68th Hong Kong Schools Speech Festival

45 students took part in the 68th Hong Kong School Speech Festival. Among them, over 80% of students obtained certificates of merit and 13% of students obtained certificates of proficiency. All of them exhibited dedication and talent. They have made notable accomplishments with their perseverance and teachers' devotion.

MATHEMATICS

A number of specific teaching plans and activities were carried out in this school year. They were as follows:

Teaching Strategy

1. 'Supporting the learning and teaching of mathematics for non-Chinese speaking students in secondary schools'

This programme was organized by Education Bureau in which we worked with the Department of Mathematics Education of the University of Hong Kong to design lesson plans for our S2 students. Different teaching strategies and activities were applied in the lessons. Our students benefited a lot from these lessons and they have shown a more positive attitude towards mathematics learning.

2. Teaching and learning activities are based on Students' need

- a. Students were grouped according to their diverse abilities.
- b. School base materials are designed to cater for the needs of the students with different learning abilities.
- c. Remedial and enhancement classes were provided for students.
- d. Different arrangements were organized for S3 students to prepare for the TSA including the design of worksheets, the format of tests and examinations, and extra practices after examinations.

Organized Activities

1. Learning Maths through Cross-Curricular Collaborative Program

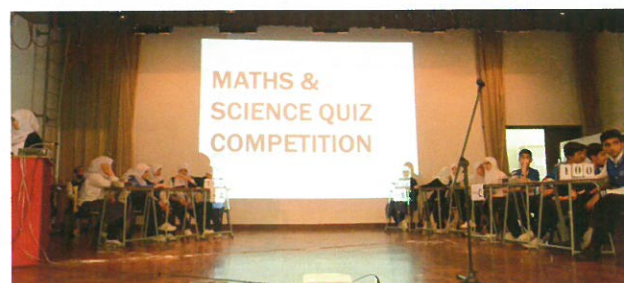

The activities aimed to provide students with opportunities to improve their ability to inquire, communicate, reason and conceptualize mathematical concepts. Activities co-organized with the Arts Department were as follows:

- i) Three-dimensional origami model production design,
- ii) Mathematical and Science Week Poster Design,
- iii) Plane geometry tessellation design,

LIBERAL STUDIES

Liberal Studies Department has attained extraordinary progress in facilitating student-centered learning in this school year.

As the Liberal Studies are related to the current issues, in addition to the provided textbooks, our teachers design their own materials as a supplement.

We have made very good use of debate in many classes and direct students to prepare in groups. Learning has thus become more competitive and entertaining, and students were more proactive in looking for evidences to form supporting arguments and counter arguments. The motions included: 'Will China become a superpower in the mid 21st century?', 'Should Hong Kong government legislate young adults to financially support their retired parents?' as well as 'Should Hong Kong withdraw from the United Nations Convention against Torture so as to prevent false asylum seekers?'

We have also participated in a variety of activities to intrigue learning interest, including a workshop at Oxfam Interactive Education Centre to understand more about climatic changes, and a seafaring journey hosted by Plastic Free Seas to understand Marine ecology and pollution in Hong Kong. We also invited Mr. Pong Yat Ming (the one in the stripe T-shirt) to discuss some feasible medium-scale government policies to alleviate poverty.

To facilitate our S6 students doing their best in the public exam, we had wonderful teamwork to provide tutorials to polish their exam skills. Some joined Mock Exam organized by Hong Kong Economic Journal held in November 2016.

During the Liberal Studies Week, two sisters, Fatima and Ifat, worked together to answer many difficult questions in philosophy

Mr. Pong sharing with students

Moral and Civic Education

Moral and Civic Education Committee does not simply promote good thoughts and deeds, but also widens students' horizon and encourages them to struggle for ideals.

Multicultural Day has promoted ethnic harmony and appreciation of different cultures too. We had lots of fabulous performers dancing and singing on stage, from Nepalese schoolmates, Student Union members, to the long expected dancing team 'Unspoken', whose skills were as good as graduates from the Academy for Performing Arts. Moreover, more than 20 cultural and game stalls were set up to showcase our diverse cultures to our neighbours and guests.

Last but not least, to help new arrival students to experience and appreciate the prosperous side of Hong Kong, we had a ride on a tram all the way from Shau Kei Wan to Central to experience hustle and bustle of Hong Kong City.
