A SONG TO THE GRADUATES

*I can almost see it
That dream I'm dreaming, but
There's a voice inside my head saying
"You'll never reach it"
Every step I'm taking
Every move I make feels lost with no direction*

*But I, I gotta keep trying
Gotta keep my head held high*

*There's always gonna be another mountain
I'm always gonna wanna make it move
Always gonna be an uphill battle
Sometimes I'm gonna have to lose
Ain't about how fast I get there
Ain't about what's waiting on the other side
It's the climb*

*The struggles I'm facing
The chances I'm taking
Sometimes might knock me down, but
No, I'm not breaking
I may not know it
But these are the moments that
I'm gonna remember most, yeah
Just gotta keep going*

The Climb by Miley Cyrus

Zareenah Ho

Dear Graduates,

Assalamu Alaikum wa Rahmatullahi wa Barakatuh. May peace be upon you.

As you turn the pages of this booklet, I hope you pause — not just to admire the photographs or read the names — but to truly feel the weight and the wonder of this moment. You are standing at a sacred intersection. Behind you lies the familiar world of classrooms, corridors, and cherished IKTMC family. Ahead lies a world that is vast, uncertain, and waiting to be shaped by people like you. You leave today holding a certificate, yes — but what I am most proud of is not what you carry in your hands.

It is what has quietly taken root in your heart: a faith that steadies you, a character that defines you, and a sense of purpose that no examination result can ever grant or take away.

The very first command revealed to our Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) was "Iqra" — Read. Not merely to decode words, but to read the universe as a sign of Allah's mercy. Islam does not separate education from life. Every formula you memorized, every work you analyzed, every moment you sought truth was an act of ibadah (worship). You have learned that knowledge without compassion is arrogance, and life without purpose is distraction. Carry this forward: let your degree be a tool for justice, and let your life be a reflection of Rahma (mercy).

You will soon discover that the world does not owe you ease. You will face closed doors, unmet expectations, and moments of deep loneliness. These are not signs that you have failed. These are the fires in which strong souls are forged.

Allah says, "Do people think that they will be left to say, 'We believe,' without being tested?" (Al-Ankabut 29:2).

Every hardship carries the seed of an equal or greater benefit. To navigate this, you need Resilience (Sumud) and Patience (Sabr). Sabr is not passive waiting. It is the active, courageous endurance of the Prophet Ayyub (Job), who lost everything yet never lost his trust in Allah. Resilience is getting up after a fall, dusting off your heart, and whispering, "Insha'Allah, the next chapter will be better." Do not run from difficulty. Stand firm in your prayers, hold tightly to your integrity, and keep walking. The storm will pass, but the person you become in the storm will remain forever.

Finally, my dear graduates, learn to be grateful. Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) said, "He who does not thank people, does not thank Allah". Look deeply at the people beside you today. The parents who lost sleep so you could study. The teachers who gave their weekends to help you pass. The friends who held your hand when you failed a test. That is your true wealth. Shukr is not denying your struggles; it is acknowledging that even within your struggle, Allah has placed countless mercies. One habit I would ask you to carry into your adult life is this: every morning, before the noise of the day begins, pause and name three things you are grateful for. It does not have to be grand — a breath in your lungs, a mind that thinks, a small kindness received. Gratitude has a quiet power. It teaches you to count your blessings before your burdens, and to find a lesson in every obstacle.

Do not seek a life without difficulties; seek the strength to face them with faith and resilience. Be like the palm tree, which bends in the storm but never breaks. Be patient like the earth, which endures the cold of winter knowing that spring will come. And be grateful — truly grateful — knowing that every blessing in your life comes from Allah swt alone. Carry Iqra in your mind. Carry Sabr in your spine. Carry Shukr in your heart. Jazakum Allahu Khairan.

May Allah swt bless every step you take from this day forward, answer your prayers in the ways that are best for you, and make you a source of light — for your family, for this ummah, and for every life you touch.

With deepest pride and mother's duas

Zareenah S. Y. Ho.

LEUNG TIK LUN

We may not have the power to change the world, and we will eventually realize that the world doesn't always go as planned. However, we absolutely have the power to rewrite our own stories and choose the perspective through which we view the world. So, don't overthink it. While you still have the strength, run as far as you can and fly as high as you can. One day, when you look back at the path you've traveled, you will be able to tell yourself with conviction: 'I have no regrets about my youth.'

HO WAI KI
